SOCIAL CHIT-CHAT

Suggestions Regarding the "Dutch Treat" Parties Which Have Lately Come in Vogue.

The Barn Party on Mr. Child's Ranch, and Some of Those Who Attended.

The Bench Show-Personal and General.

It is rumored, and there are most assuredly grounds for the rumor, that some of the young ladies in Helena society are complaining because they do not receive a satisfactory amount of attention, and that while these young ladies are constantly getting up parties the men do not respond. On the other hand the young men claim that while they are invited to theatre parties, riding parties and other and suredly grounds for the rumor, that some parties, riding parties and other and known socially here and has several relatives in Helena besides a host of friends who will welcome the advent of Miss Brown even under another name as a great also that of the young ladies who are ostensibly giving the party. Now I have not the slightest desire to be an arbiter in this matter, but it seems to me that it is merely a misconception of the word, "invitation." No young lady is inviting you to a theatre party if she expects you to pay the price of her seat and the carriage to take you there: she is simply asking you to make one of a party to which, it is to be presumed, she has been invited, and it is usually the gentlemen who get up this species of Dutch treat. For my own part I think this system of Dutch treat, where everyone pays his or her share, is by far the jolilest, the most satisfactory and the most economical method of going to a theatre or a picnic or giving a country dance. In the first place, no one need feel under the slightest obligation to Helena's social circles.

The departure of Mr. and Mrs. John Keymer Kane and their daughter, Miss Mary Kane, for England, yesterday, will leave a gap in Helena's social circles.

The departure of Mr. and Mrs. John Keymer Kane and their daughter, Miss Mary England, yesterday, will leave a gap in Helena's social circles which it will be hard to fill. Mrs. Kane's numerous friends testified to their appreciation of her social worth by crowding the pariors of her lena's social circles which it will be hard to fill. But it should be always clearly defined whether such an entertainment is to be given on the Dutch treat principle or no; otherwise mistakes are likely to arise which might prove extremely embarrassing. For instance, I heard of a case where a young lady invited a gentleman to a theatre party only a little while ago and this guileless, rather impecunious youth, and a late arrival from one of our large eastern colleges, accepted. A carriage called for him and a box at the theatre awaited him, while he enjoyed a recherche supper at the house of his fair hostess after the play. But he was not a little surprised and mortified a few days after to receive a call from one of the gentlemen who made up the party with a request that he pay $5, his share, towards the evening expenses, for, as he said himself, "Had I known it was to be a general treat I would not have gone, knowing that I apply to a first to do it." Such a mistake I would not have gone, knowing that I could not afford to do it." Such a mistake as the above could never occur if those engineering the matter simply make it clear to all invited that the expenses are to be divided.

THE BARN PARTY. One of the joiliest affairs of this kind, and certainly one of the most successful, was the dance given at W. E. Child's barn was the dance given at W. E. Child's barn on Tuesday night. Something like 200 people responded, and from beginning to end the affair was a pronounced success. Of course dancing in a barn which has a floor 200 feet long by 100 feet wide, well ventilated and well lighted, differs slightly from attempting to dance in Encore hall during the month of July, and the spirited strains of Prof. Yaeger's prochestra made the dancer's forget all about the rather unseasonable weather for true terpsichorean enjoyment. The management of this affair can take credit to themselves for leaving none of the necessary details unattended none of the necessary details unattended to. Everyone was duly intimated that the round tickets would have to be purchased in advance, and Messrs. Walter S. Kelley and A. Palmer were designated to punch the tickets or the offending heads of all appear at the Twin City Jockey club runthose who failed to comply with these orders, and so effici ntly did the former gentleman comply with these orders that he punched a hole in one gentleman's necktie who failed to present his ticket when called upon for it. Mr. Child did everything in his power to make his guests comfortable. The big barn was as clean and nest as if it had never been designed for any other purpose than his guests comfortable. The big oarn was as clean and nest as if it had never been designed for any other purpose than dancing in. The ladies who went provided ample refreshments, and lemonade and coffee served to assuage their thirst. Among those participating were: Mr. and Mrs. Judge Bach, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Bach, Mr. and Mrs. Hervey Barbour, Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Ashby, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Buck, Judge and Mrs. Blake, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Barker, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Chessman, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Cullen, Mrs. Ed. Arrangements for the bench show progress favorably, and from the way those interested are taking the matter in hand it should be a success. It would be a good thing, moreover, if it could be given in the fall of the year, for then if the Helena show followed the St. Paul show the indees engaged by them could be brought. judges engaged by them could be brought on here at small expense.

CHURCH ENTERTAINMENT. Thanks to the unflagging zeal displayed by Mrs. Joe Davis, Mrs. J. Keymer Kane, Mrs. F. T. Webb, Mrs. W. C. Child and to the untir ng exertions of the Misses Flowerree, Miss Newcombe, Miss Bella Sharpe and others in making gentlemen believe that ice cream and strawberries were absolutely necessary to their happiness on Wednesday night, the church entertainment in aid of the building fund for St. Peter's church was an unqualified success. The entertainment passed off very smoothly, and encores were numerous, while the church association benefited to the extent of some $200.
